

Benefits of attending the Veterinary Nurse Rehabilitation Therapist course

By attending the course you will:

- Achieve an accredited rehabilitation qualification – the first developed specifically for veterinary nurses working with small animals
- Extend your role and responsibilities in respect of small animal rehabilitation
- Be able to plan and execute appropriate rehabilitation programmes for your patients to ensure better outcomes
- Learn effective rehabilitation techniques and the principles behind their use
- Ensure all rehabilitation interventions are underpinned by evidence based guidelines/protocols
- Demonstrate knowledge and skills in rehabilitation as it relates to orthopaedic, neurological and critical care patients
- Have a greater understanding of functional anatomy and improve your palpation skills
- Learn how to analyse posture and gait to identify specific musculoskeletal problems
- Develop problem solving and decision making skills in rehabilitation planning
- Be able to set goals, measure outcomes and evaluate the effectiveness of your treatments
- Undertake specialist training in the safe & effective use of electrotherapy
- Recognise your own levels of competence & know when to refer to specialist practitioners